P.S.—Messrs. P. and R. particularly request the wearers of French and Geneva Watches to give them a trial, as in that branch of the trade they consider themselves second to none in the colony.

GALVANIZED TINNED SHEET IRON,

FOR ROOFING, VERANDAHS, SHEATHING, GUTTERING, BATHS, &C.

THE undersigned has just received from the Patentees, ex William Wilson, a further supply of Galvanized Sheet Iron,
Sizes 72 x 24, 72 x 30, 42 x 14,
And in corrugated sheets 72 x 28, 66 x 28, of various guages.

This light and incorrodible metal is now proved to be the most economical and durable material for verandahs, roofs, guttering, baths, &c., ever invented.

Its general use by Government for all public buildings, both at home and in the colonies, and by the Railway and other Companies for their stations and warehouses, is a sufficient proof of its strength and lasting qualities.

The corrugated sheets for verandahs or roofs have a very light and elegant appearance, and sheets 42 x 14 are from their size well adapted for sheathing vessels.

NEW WORK

By the Author of "Harry Lorrequer," "Charles O'Malley," &c, &c.

THE KNIGHT OF GWYNNE: a Tale of the Time of the Union, by Charles Lever, with Illustrations by "Phiz."

"It is rich in incident, surprising without being extravagant—the dialogue piquant, graceful, and characteristic, and it is most felicitous in the art with which traits of character are sometimes broadly given, sometimes insinuated, rather than openly expressed. It has an air of novelty too thrown around it, which, in a season of such literary fecundity, is a very rare excellence. We would instance the scene at the Priory, where the ladies (one of whom, we anticipate, is to be the heroine of the tale) are perusing the adroit letter of a titled courtier—half tuft-hunter, half sentimentalist—and the game at cards, between the Knight of Gwynne and the old Marquis of Drogheda, as exquisite morceaux, in which Mr. Lever, retaining all his own powers, shows himself capable of literary distinction in efforts of a new, and, perhaps, we may add, a higher description than those in which he has obtained his present celebrity."—Evening Mail.

"Made up of greater elements than any of our author's former productions. The persons of the tale appear endowed with more than the wonted energy—the reflecting and serious have more sagacity—the men of action are more adventurously daring—and the humour of those who are to make out the merriment of the scene, is richer, without being less true to nature."—Dublin Evening Mail.

"One of the most pleasant and sparkling stories which has yet issued from the bright and abundant spring of Lever's genius."—Leeds Times.

STOCKTON CLOTHS.

—FISHER and DONALDSON having relinquished the services of their late agent, Mr. Charles Sutherland, have opened a STORE IN SYDNEY for the disposal of their cloths, and they beg to inform merchants and shippers to the neighbouring colonies and the trade generally, that their TWEEDS, DOESKINS, LLAMAS, &c., &c., can only be procured wholesale at the Factory, Stockton ; at Mr. James Solomon's, Maitland ; and at STOCKTON HOUSE, No. 151, Prince-street North, where a large stock of their manufactures will be always kept on hand. 9378

TO SETTLERS AND COUNTRY STOREKEEPERS.

MESSRS. JOS. THOMPSON AND SON feeling grateful for the patronage hitherto bestowed by their numerous friends and customers, beg to solicit a continuance of those favours, to merit which they have spared neither trouble nor expense in making such alterations and improvements as would give them greater facilities for the conducting their business, and induce them to keep up a much more varied and extensive stock of goods, suitable for the bush and domestic use, than hitherto they have been enabled to display.

Messrs. J. T. and Son particularly call the attention of settlers and others, whom they have not yet had the pleasure of furnishing with supplies, to the list below, although forming but a small portion of their extensive assortment, they enumerate for the information of the many who have but a few days to spare in completing their purchases, which will be found to comprise almost every useful article, and which, on examination, will prove to be of the very best quality, and at the lowest possible price. Messrs. T. and S., having an agent resident in the English market, are in receipt of monthly shipments, which enable them to keep up a constant and well-regulated supply.

Perth, Western Australia,
15th February, 1846.

Messrs. Hockin and Co., Bishopgate-street, London.

Sirs,—Having made a purchase of one of Carson's patent salting machines, and used the same with perfect success, on about 350 legs of mutton, being part of the proceeds of 197 sheep, boiled down for tallow, and in extreme hot weather—the thermometer being for two days, during the process, at 92° in the salting room, and from 100° to 105° in other parts of the premises,—these instruments will be a useful invention for the settlers in these warm climates.

Your obedient servant,
(Signed) JAMES STOKES.

Baloukera, April 28th, 1847.

(Mr. A. Foss,)

Dear Sir,—I send a cheque at bottom for the amount I am due you for Carson's Patent Salting Machine, and if it keeps in order—and as yet I see no reason why it should not—I think the sum well laid out. It answers admirably ; I succeeded in salting a bullock, in extreme bad weather—thunder, lightning, and everything that was against ; and do not hesitate to say every settler ought to have one, and have so recommended it right and left.

Yours, truly,
8375 (Signed) WILLIAM CASWELL.

"Sworn to no Master, of no Sect am I."

CORRESPONDENCE WITH OUR PARLIAMENTARY AGENT.

The communications from Mr. Scott to the Council were noticed in our article of Saturday. Those from the Council to him, in the paper just printed, are only two, dated respectively the 29th July, and 1st October, 1847.

The first commences by explaining the circumstances which had caused so long an interval in the correspondence on the part of the Council. It may be remembered that, owing to the interference of Lord Stanley, no Committee of Correspondence was appointed during the session of 1846. In his despatch to Sir George Gipps, of 1st September, 1845, His Lordship, besides quibbling at the principle of appointing a member of the House of Commons expressly to represent the interests of a colony, although the principle had long been beneficially acted upon with reference to the West India and North American colonies, also objected to such appointment being made by a mere resolution of the Council, and suggested that it should be done by a local ordinance. The quibble was unworthy of serious notice; but the suggestion of an enactment was complied with, a Bill having been passed by the Council, on the 9th October, 1846, "to appoint the Honorable Francis Scott Agent for the Colony for three years." Lord Stanley's interference did not, however, stop at these two points. He must needs meddle with the constitution of the Corresponding Committee itself. On this subject the Chairman's letter to Mr. Scott speaks with becoming spirit:—"The requirement by his Lordship that one-third of the members of the Corresponding Committee should consist of members, nominees of the Crown, could not be regarded otherwise than as an invasion of the constitutional right of the legislature. The proposition can scarcely be admitted, that a Minister of the Crown can have any right to prescribe to an independent legislative body the conditions upon which its internal functions are to be administered, or to apply any limitation to the exercise of its powers beyond that determined by Parliament, or rendered binding by its own Standing Orders, which have the force of law. No provision in the Imperial Act, 5 and 6 Vict., authorises such an interference as that sought to be exercised by his Lordship in the appointment of committees: the Council therefore felt it to be their duty not to comply with the conditions under which Lord Stanley authorised the Governor to assent to the Act constituting you our Agent. It is confidently believed that the views of the Council in this matter will be regarded as so reasonable, and so consonant with constitutional principles, that when the question is again under consideration at the Colonial Office, no impediment will be offered to the obtaining the Royal assent to the Bill appointing you our agent."

We have marked the concluding passage in italics, because the confidence it expresses in the reasonableness of Earl Grey has proved, in this instance, as we have but too much reason to believe, to have been entirely misplaced. The Bill appointing Mr. Scott having been reserved by the Governor for Her Majesty's assent, the noble Secretary for the Colonies has signified, in a despatch received by His Excellency since the prorogation of Council, that such assent will be withheld, on the ground, we are credibly informed, that Lord Stanley's wishes to the composition of the Corresponding Committee has not been complied with. Now, if such be the case, we scarcely know in what terms to express our sense of his Lordship's conduct. That such a minister as Stanley, arrogant, imperious, and dictatorial, in nearly all his official proceedings, should have dared to prescribe to the Council, in a matter peculiarly their own, was not surprising; but that Earl Grey, who has ever been foremost in denouncing tyranny in all its forms, and in crying up the preciousness of popular rights, from the imperial legislature down to the pettiest municipality, should have followed in the wake of that haughty predecessor, and have given practical effect to his arbitrary menaces, does certainly seem strange and inconsistent in the highest degree. We are not wont to encourage malcontentedness towards the British Government, and have more than once rebuked certain honorable members for indulging in such a spirit; but here is an act of aggression so palpable, so gratuitous, so insulting, not to the Council only, but to the whole colony, that we have no scruple in denouncing it with all our might. Be the consequences what they may, we trust our legislature, whatever form it may hereafter assume, will on this question ever maintain a firm, dignified, unbending attitude.

The other topics embraced by the Committee's letters are those which have occupied the most prominent place in the debates of Council, and in the discussions of the Press, during the last two or three years. They begin with Lord Stanley's Waste Land Act, reiterating the objections which have been so often urged against its main provisions, and thanking Mr. Scott for the way in which he had given those objections his support. Thence they proceed to expose the fallacy of Lord Grey's attempt, in his despatch of 29th November, 1846, to justify the pound an acre policy. Their reasoning is cogent; but, containing nothing which we think would be new to our readers, we need not stop to analyse it.

Referring to the appointment of Sir C. A. Fitz Roy to this Government, the Committee "have much satisfaction in saying, that the anticipations as to the prospect of more harmonious relations existing between the two branches of the legislature, under His Excellency's administration, than under that of his predecessor, have been fully verified up to the present moment."

Earl Grey's concession of the Casual Revenues of the Crown is said to have been made "in a spirit and in a language which the Committee feel entitle His Lordship to their grateful acknowledgments—not merely because they regard the concession as one of constitutional right, but because they feel that the frankness with which the justice is admitted, of the position the Council has maintained, affords a happy augury that his Lordship's sense of justice may lead to a recognition of other not less important rights, which the colony demands at the hands of the mother country."

On the vital subject of Immigration, the Committee urge, with becoming earnestness, most of the chief arguments which the colonists are used to employ; especially such as identify the interests of the United Kingdom with those of Australia in the desired undertaking.

The first of the two letters concludes with a condemnation of the harshness, we had almost said the wanton cruelty, of the Home Government, in the withdrawal of one-half of our troops. Besides other grounds of complaint, the Committee specify the following:—"The colony is, in point of fact, rendered all but defenceless against foreign aggression; the present defences of the harbour of Sydney would not be adequate to its protection against a single privateer. The Right Honorable the Secretary for the Colonies states, that in the event of war, adequate protection would be afforded us; but it must be borne in mind that in the event of hostile relations between Great Britain and France, or America, taking place, the first intimation afforded us of the fact, might be in the appearance of an armed vessel, belonging to either of these powers, ready to bombard or to lay our city under contribution. An interval of five months often elapses without our receiving direct intelligence from England; and in the event of a rupture between England and France, the latter power has a naval armament within a few days' sail of Sydney, (at Tahiti,) with which I believe no British force at present in the Eastern Seas would be able to compete."

The last despatch in the series is short. The question of Immigration is again pressed upon Mr. Scott's most serious attention. The famous Transportation Report is exposed as a thing disowned by vote of Council, and denounced by a nearly unanimous public. The rumoured intention of Ministers to thrust upon us some such new fangled constitution as the one lately vouchsafed to New Zealand, is mentioned in terms of unequivocal regret and condemnation. And here the correspondence terminates.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

SUPREME COURT.—Monday.

Before the Three Judges.

DOE DEM. COOPER v. HUGHES.

The Chief Justice delivered the following judgment:—

In this case, which was tried before Mr. Justice Therry in March last, both parties claimed the land in dispute, under one David Dyer:—the lessor of the plaintiff, under a bill of sale or conveyance from the Sheriff, of a date posterior to the defendant's conveyance, but duly registered;—and the defendant, under a conveyance from Dyer, executed before the issue of the writ under which the Sheriff sold, but at the time of the bringing of the ejectment unregistered.

For the defendant it was contended, that the Sheriff had conveyed only Dyer's then right and interest; which consisted in a rent charge or annuity merely, and not the land—but that, in so far as he had conveyed (or the bill of sale had purported to convey) the land, it was subject expressly to the defendant's conveyance, and therefore that the latter's title was distinctly saved. For the plaintiff it was insisted, on the contrary, that the plaintiff's conveyance to Cooper, being registered, was the only one possessing any validity;—that the defendant's being unregistered, could (as against the former) operate nothing:—that the Sheriff conveyed the land unaffected by Hughes's claim to it, if the foundation of that claim was thus, or by any other means, destroyed;—and that it was so destroyed, if not by such non-registration, yet by fraud—as Dyer's sale to Hughes was malâ fide and without consideration. The Judge left the question of fraud to the Jury; but told them to return a verdict for the plaintiff—reserving leave to the defendant, however, to move for a nonsuit, should the Court be of opinion that the plaintiff's case was not established, either by reason that the Registration Act conferred no priority, under the circumstances, over the defendant's conveyance, or otherwise. The Jury found, specially, that the sale to Hughes was bonâ fide and for value.

The conveyance to Hughes was by Dyer and his wife, in consideration of £200 then paid, and an annuity to them (during their lives, and the life of the survivor,) of £104, secured on the property; with powers to them of entry, and distress, in case of default. The bill of sale from the Sheriff recites that conveyance, (which is mentioned, however, as "a certain alleged conveyance" only,) and that Dyer was said to be seized of or entitled to the land in question, save so far as the same stood thereby affected; and that the Sheriff had, under a certain writ in that behalf, levied on and sold all Dyer's interest in the annuity, secured on the said premises, and also all his estate, title, and interest, in and to the land;—and then the Sheriff bargains and sells to Cooper, all the right, title, and interest, of the said Dyer, in and to the said annuity, and also all his right, title, and interest, in and to the land; to hold the said annuity and land to Cooper, "his heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns, for ever, in as full, ample, and beneficial a manner, as the said David Dyer could or might have held or enjoyed the same."

The questions reserved at the trial were argued before us, by Mr. Fisher for the defendant, and by Mr. Windeyer and Mr. Broadhurst for the plaintiff. We have fully considered them; and we are of opinion that a nonsuit must be entered. We have no doubt that conveyances by the Sheriff are within the provisions of the Registration Act. Probably, therefore, (though on this we give no unqualified opinion,) the Sheriff might convey bonâ fide to a purchaser, any property, which the party against whom the execution issued could himself, if acting bonâ fide, convey. But, looking here to the terms of the bill of sale, and seeing that it is not a mere simple conveyance of the land in question, or even of Dyer's right and title to it, (which, however, strictly speaking, amounted to nothing,) but that, in the first place, the conveyance of the land is, only, to hold in as ample a manner as Dyer himself could hold,—secondly, that the Sheriff, and the purchaser from him, had notice of Hughes's conveyance, and that it might affect Dyer's title and interest to and in the land, as the bill of sale expressly states,—thirdly, that no more than that title and interest, whatever it might turn out to be, (the prior conveyance having been thus distinctly referred to,) was levied on, or declared to have been sold,—and lastly, that the annuity is throughout the Sheriff's conveyance made the prominent object of sale, or is at any rate made the object of sale, throughout, jointly with the land, or the title to and interest therein, respectively,—we are of opinion, that under the last-mentioned conveyance the land in question in this case did not pass. The deed to Hughes being unregistered, Dyer could afterwards (if bonâ fide, according to our decision in Doe d. Irving v. Gannon,) have executed a valid conveyance to a third party. That was a right vested in him affecting the land; but he had no title to, or interest in the land—such, at all events, as could enable him in any way to "hold or enjoy" that land. It is at least clear, that Dyer could only enjoy one of the two things mentioned—either the annuity, or the land. He could not have both. If the conveyance remained intact, the land would be Hughes's; the annuity would belong to Dyer. If he conveyed away the land to some one else, however, by a registered and valid deed, the land would have been then resumed by Dyer; and the conveyance to Hughes being invalidated, the annuity would have been destroyed. But here the Sheriff, in the instrument relied on for the plaintiff, professes throughout to convey Dyer's interest in the land, and in the annuity also: as if Dyer could possibly be entitled alike to both.

It appears to us, all things being taken into account, that the clue to this apparent inconsistency is to be found in the first recital—touching the (so termed) "alleged" conveyance; namely, that of Dyer to Hughes. And we think that the following is the explanation. The Sheriff meant to sell all which Dyer really had, (or had a right to,) and no more;—if the land, because of some secret or fraudulent arrangement, showing that the sale of Hughes was fictitious, then the Sheriff's conveyance was so worded, as to secure the land;—but, if the annuity, because the sale to Hughes was a genuine and a real transaction, for value, then there would clearly be a conveyance of the annuity. This latter, therefore, is that which the lessor of the plaintiff purchased—and his supposed right to the land, for which the ejectment was brought, entirely fails.

Tuesday.

DOE DEM. ASPINWALL v. OSBORNE.

This was an action of ejectment brought to recover possession of a farm of one hundred acres of land, at Dapto, in the Illawarra district. At the trial, which took place before his Honor the Chief Justice in November last, the lessor of the plaintiff claimed from the grantee, one M'Kelley, of the land in question; the lessor of the plaintiff's conveyance was dated in January, 1840, and was subsequent to the date of the grant. The defendant claimed also from the same M'Kelley, by a conveyance dated in 1832, and consequently long prior to the issuing of the grant; and in this deed there was a recital to the effect, that M'Kelley, at the time of executing the conveyance, was in possession of the land by virtue of a grant from the Crown—whereas, the grant did not issue until long after. And it was contended then, by Mr. Lowe, for the defendant, that M'Kelley and those claiming through him, were estopped from saying that at the date of the conveyance, evidencing the defendant's title, the grant had not issued. It was further contended, that the subsequent issuing of the grant fed the estoppel, thereby making that which was merely an estoppel an interest. Under his Honor's direction the Jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, and now Mr. Lowe, for the defendant, moved for a new trial, on a variety of grounds; but as the real question in the case for argument was, whether there was an estoppel or not, it was agreed that that question should only be argued, and according to the opinion of the Court so should the verdict be entered.

Mr. Lowe, for the defendant, to-day, took again the same line of argument, contending, in the first place, that a recital was an estoppel; and that the subsequent issuing of the grant made that estoppel an interest. And though the deed, being a lease and release, by which the defendant claimed immediately from M'Kelley, was informal, the lease being in the body of the deed, yet the Court would marshall the deeds and give effect to them, and therefore this objection would not avail the lessor of the plaintiff. In the course of the argument the following books and reports were referred to:—Cruise's Digest, vol. 4, p. 114; Comyn's Digest, Estoppel B.; —— v. Christmas, 2 Smith's Leading Cases; Trevellion v. ——, 2 Smith's Leading Cases, 435; and Webb v. Austin, 13 L. J. C. P. 203.

Mr. Broadhurst contrà, contended that there was no estoppel in this case, laying down this principle that estoppel is created by deed, where an estate passes under it; but where a conveying party assuming that he has a larger estate than he has, but the deed only conveys an interest, then there is no estoppel; and the conveying party is not precluded subsequently from explaining that at the time he had only a qualified interest. And here it was submitted that applying this principle to all the deeds in question, it was clear that M'Kelley's deed to the party through whom the defendant claimed, showed that that deed only passed in interest, and therefore the circumstances take the case out of the doctrine of estoppel.

Mr. Lowe replied, urging that the plaintiff at the trial could not legally have set up the grant as part of his case; and having done so, he thereby put himself out of Court by proving the defendant's title.

The Court reserved judgment.

HAMPDEN v. HIGGINS.

This was an action of trespass: the defendant had pleaded not guilty by statute. The case was tried during the last nisi prius sittings before His Honor Mr. Justice Dickinson. It appeared that the plaintiff entered into an agreement with the defendant to take from him a store at Brisbane, and it was in these words—"Memorandum of agreement made this 17th day of August, 1846, between Higgins, of &c., and the defendant, of &c., that is, the plaintiff agrees to take the house, &c., for a period of twelve months, at a weekly rental of 15s., upon consideration of the defendant completing the new improvements, &c., and that all the said improvements shall be completed within five weeks from the date hereof." Under this agreement the plaintiff entered, and the defendant afterwards put in a distress for thirty-four weeks, at the rate of 15s. per week. It was proved at the trial that the improvements were not made until long after the stipulated time. It was also contended for the plaintiff that the agreement in question contained no present words of demise, nor was it clear from what day the rent began to run. For the defendant it was contended, that the agreement was an actual demise, and therefore the distress was legal. The Jury found a verdict for the plaintiff, damages £40 18s.

Mr. Broadhurst now moved for a new trial on the ground of misdirection: he contended that the agreement which had been signed by both parties, did contain words of present demise; and as it had been proved that the plaintiff had paid rent, it ought to have been left to the Jury to find whether rent had been paid under the agreement.

The Court, however, without calling upon Mr. Michie, who was to have argued in support of the verdict, sustained the verdict, being of opinion that the agreement did not contain words of present demise: it was an agreement for a lease subsequent to a condition; and as it had been proved that those conditions had not been fulfilled by the defendant, so he was not entitled to rent, and having distrained for the same was liable accordingly.

HOWELL AND ANOTHER v. COUGHLAN.

The Court was occupied the remainder of the day in hearing the arguments of counsel in this case, and they will be continued to-morrow after the Insolvency.

MULTUM IN PARVO.

(From late Australasian Papers.)

A gentleman, arrived in Melbourne from the interior, reports the country as being burnt up in many parts from a want of rain, and feed consequently getting bad and scarce.—No candidate for the vacancy in the Legislative Council caused by Dr. Lang's absence had come forward, although it wanted but six days of the nomination.—Horse-stealing is said to be very rife at Port Phillip.—The Survey Department at Melbourne is being increased to a considerable extent.—Mr. Petrie has obtained a contract for forming landing places at Brisbane, for £300.—The Town Council of Melbourne intend to address the government on the extortionate rates of postage.—The Police Bench at Cressbrook, Moreton Bay, has been discontinued.—The Queen's Wharf, Melbourne, was let to Mr. Raleigh for £450.—The Legislative Council of South Australia have unanimously declared in favour of steam communication via the Cape of Good Hope.—Twenty-one counties have, it is said, been marked out at Port Phillip, to be included in the intermediate districts.—A number of residents of Moreton Bay are endeavouring to procure the introduction of coolies into the district.—The owner of a stage cart in South Australia, plying between Adelaide and the Burra Burra mines, claims support not only on the ground of its being the "fastest and best conveyance on the road," but because it is driven by a man that has been persecuted, prosecuted, fined, and confined, for long periods in Britain's Bastiles, in that glorious battle which freed the press from the shackles of taxation; the effects of which will be knowledge, union, and liberty, with peace and plenty for all mankind."—The sales of land in the Portland district will in future take place at Portland instead of at Melbourne, as heretofore.—The Independents of Adelaide have, during the present year, paid off £1400, being the remainder of the debt on their chapel.—Mr. H. C. Stakemann, Prussian Consul at Adelaide, has also been appointed Consul for the Free Hanseatic City of Hamburgh.

LINES

Suggested by the recent melancholy Deaths of the Right Honorable Lady Mary Fitz Roy, and Lieutenant Masters, A.D.C., to His Excellency the Governor.

What mean these weeds of woe!
This universal grief!
As when a grateful nation wails
A dear, departed chief,
Who, while on earth, with liberal hand,
Had scattered blessings o'er the land.
Stern eyes that seldom weep,
With gathering tears are dim;
As if the gall in sorrow's cup
Had mounted to the brim;
And all Australia's sons had quaffed,
Even to its dregs, the bitter draught.
And gentler hearts are crushed;
And softer cheeks are pale;
And settled gloom on every brow—
All tell a dismal tale!
And, whispering in the lonely street,
White lips the dismal tale repeat.
The angel of disease
Has brooded o'er our land,
And on the aged and the young
Has laid his chilling hand;
And changed, to sudden gloom the mirth
Of many a peaceful, happy hearth.
But these are partial griefs;
While this, with horror fraught,
Is general, as when Israel's God,
All Egypt's first-born smote;
For here to every heart and home
A messenger of death has come.
Death sudden—awful death!
Death in the midst of life—
While scarce had ceased the sounds of mirth,
And all with health was rife!
Before the son's, the father's eyes,
A lifeless wife and mother lies!
'Tis past: the curtain falls;
The tragedy is o'er;
And calmly sleeps the noble dead,
Far from her native shore;
And thousands o'er the untimely bier
Pour forth the tributary tear!
Sprung from a noble race,
With noble blood allied,
She moved with matron majesty,
Devoid of senseless pride;
And leaves behind a brighter name
Than rank alone may ever claim.
Around her virtuous path
An atmosphere was flung,
Whose purity was breathed by all—
The aged and the young;
The poor and wretched shared her wealth,
And her good deeds were done by stealth.
There needs no marble bust;
There needs no sorrowing verse;
Her noble actions to record,
Her virtues to rehearse;
For these are treasured in our heart,
And shall not but with life depart.
Queen of the Southern Seas,
Luckless Australia, mourn!
The star has set which lately rose,
Of brightening prospects born,
And promised from its cheering ray
A clearer noon—a brighter day.
The treacherous dream is o'er—
The transient sunshine past;—
And with a gloomy thunder-cloud
Our sky is overcast,
Since death has crushed with withering hand
The noblest Lady in our land.
Like lightning o'er the deep,
The o'erwhelming news will spread,
Till Richmond's noble halls resound
With wailings for the dead;
And Gordon castle's woods prolong
The burden of the mournful song.
Nor spare the generous tear
For him whose early doom,
Linked in the same mysterious fate
Speaks loudly from the tomb;
And reads from life's uncertain page
A warning tale to youth and age.
Oft as the story's told
Of her, the nobly born,
While murmuring the loved one's name,
From his embraces torn;—
They'll speak of him who with her died,
And now lies slumbering by her side.
Hark! to the funeral knell
For their departed souls!
Borne on the breeze the solemn sound
Laden with sorrow rolls;
And every heart, and every eye,
With silent grief and tears reply.
Peace to their ashes! Peace!
A tale so full of woe,
Ne'er darkened our historic page,
Nor caused such tears to flow,
And ne'er may one, so awful, more,
Burst, like an Earthquake, on our Shore!
Break, not the bruised reed,
Thou, who alone canst heal!
Soothe the Survivors' bleeding hearts,
And whisper—"Peace be still"
To nature's agonising cries,
And wipe the tear drops from their eyes.

Police Office.—The Mayor was under the necessity of adjourning the Court yesterday morning before the business on the paper was gone through, for want of a second magistrate, neither of those on the roster having been in attendance. Captain Innes afterwards took his seat on the Bench, but neither for the same reason could he proceed with the business.

Committal.—On Saturday, Charles Langley, the proprietor of an eating-house in Market-street, had occasion to go from home for a short time, and left an old woman named Murray, in charge of the premises. He had not long been gone, until a man named Sutherland came and represented to Murray that Langley had sent him to assist her in attending to the shop; after remaining for some time in the shop, and making himself quite at home, he told Murray that he had borrowed fourteen plates for Mr. Langley, and thought he had better take them home, forthwith proceeding to take down that number of plates, which he wrapped in a towel, and walked off. When Langley came home, he of course knew nothing of the man, and on an examination of the shop, missed three bottles of pickles in addition to the plates spoken of by Murray. The old woman went in search of Sutherland, and having found him, took from him the towel in which he had carried away the plates. He was given into the custody of constable Aiken, and at his lodgings were found two bottles of pickles, which corresponded with those missed by Langley. The plates have not been discovered. He was yesterday committed to take his trial for the robbery.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

(From our Correspondent.)

BATHURST.

Small Debts' Court.—The usual sittings were held on Monday, the 6th instant; the Magistrates present were E. Park, G. Rankin, and W. A. Steel, Esqrs. There were three remanded and thirty-one new cases; many of the latter had been settled out of Court. In consequence however of the lawyers being employed in several cases, the list was not got through until after four P.M. The only case of any general importance was No. 8, Rembert v. Boyle; and this was interesting from involving the question of liability of auctioneers. Plaintiff had commissioned defendant to sell by auction fourteen hides, which plaintiff had represented as being salted. The auctioneer put them up as such, and they were knocked down to Mr. Page, tanner, at 3s. 6d. each. The latter had them placed on a cart to convey home, when he discovered the hides were not salted, and on overhauling them, discovered they were damaged and nearly valueless; he caused them to be thrown from the cart, and refused to stick to his bargain, the hides not being according to warranty; they remained in the street several hours, neither owner, auctioneer, nor purchaser feeling disposed to take charge of them, and the hides were eventually taken to the Police Office. Mr. Wadeson appeared for the plaintiff, who had summoned the defendant for the amount the hides were knocked down at. Plaintiff swore hard and fast that he had not stated to the auctioneer that the hides were salted. Mr. Boyle, who defended himself, seemed soon to convince the magistrates that Mr. Rembert's story was not quite correct; he showed very clearly that he had no remedy against the purchaser, as the hides did not correspond with the warranty he had been instructed to give. The hides had been packed in the usual method with salted hides, and no doubt had been so packed to pick up a flat. There were some other items in the account sued for. The verdict was virtually for the defendant, as the claim for the hides was struck out of the account.

Narrow Escape.—A few days since, a son of Mr. Arthur, of the Carriers' Arms, about three years old, was observed to have a firm hold of a brown snake. The young urchin had with one hand firmly grasped the tail of the reptile, whilst with the other hand he was belabouring away at it. The alarm of the mother and nurse at discovering the dangerous situation of the child, may be more easily imagined than described. The nurse, however, did not allow her alarm to get the better of her reason, but desired the child to let go, which the little fellow did, and thus escaped certain death. The snake crept away, and was afterwards killed by a man in the yard, and was found to measure upwards of three feet in length. The brown snake is considered the most venomous of the species, the bite from it being followed in most cases by instant death. It is supposed to have been conveyed into the inn yard in a load of firewood.

Lady Mary Fitz Roy.—On Friday last, Wednesday's Herald, containing an account of the lamentable accident, came to hand, and shortly after the news had become known the public-houses where the Herald is taken in became besieged by numerous and anxious enquirers, desirous of hearing authentic particulars; and as soon as the circumstance became generally known there was gloom in every countenance. The visit of his Excellency and her Ladyship to Bathurst, was fresh in the memory of every one; and the lady-like and affable manners of her ladyship on that occasion gained golden opinions from all who had access to her; her memory will be cherished, and her lamentable fate deplored by none more sincerely than by the residents of these districts.

The Weather has for several days past been intensely hot; on Thursday, between six and seven P.M., a thunder storm passed over the town and plain, followed by a slight shower of rain. On Friday, about five P.M., thunder was heard at a distance to the northward, and continued for nearly two hours, taking the direction of the mountains to the south-east; we hear of rain coming down in torrents in several directions around, and within a few miles of Bathurst. On Sunday, another thunder storm, about five P.M., was followed by a slight but refreshing shower of rain.

Agricultural Produce.—But little variation in prices since our last report. Wheat, but little sold during the last few weeks—price from 3s. 6d. to 4s.; the latter price for the very best samples. Flour and bread same as last quotations; corn, 3s. per bushel retail; hay from £3 to £4 per ton. Haymaking has commenced, and at many places good average crops are expected.

The Mails.—That due from Sydney on Saturday at eight P.M., did not arrive at Bathurst until eight the following morning. The one due on Tuesday did not arrive until one P.M. the following day.

Native Dog Hunt.—On Friday, the 3rd, a party of gentlemen, amongst whom were Messrs. Brady, Clements, Macintosh, Tait, and Wadeson, started at daybreak for a day's sport, at the Bald Hill. About two miles from the town a native dog was started; after a chase of about five miles the dog was brought in sight, and the chase was followed with spirit for upwards of thirty miles, the dog taking a circuit of the Vale, George's and Evans's Plains, and back to the vicinity of the Bald Hill, from whence he had been started in the morning; the hounds were completely done up, and the native dog scarcely a leg to stand on when come up with, at a place called the Poor Man's Hollow, between Bathurst and Evans's Plains; the only parties that came up at the time being Messrs. Brady and Clements, the others being all thrown out. The dog, though exhausted, was not dead. Mr. Brady captured him, threw him across his horse, and brought him into Bathurst, where he died. We understand it is in contemplation to muster a pack of hounds, and have regular hunts when the proper season arrives. This may be useful, and tend to a rise in the value of horse-flesh.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

MR. BOYD'S SOUTH SEA ISLANDERS.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—I find that many silly and calumnious reports are in circulation concerning the supposed misconduct of these men at my residence on the North Shore; it would, therefore, be an act of injustice to them not to undeceive the public on the subject. Not to enter into needless detail, I may say in a word that whatever statement has been made to their prejudice as far as concerns their intercourse with me, is without foundation in truth. My premises have for some time past been visited by great numbers of that portion of them which come from the island of Tanna. I have mingled with them on a variety of occasions, and cannot call to mind a single instance in which they have deviated from the strictest rules of propriety. They have an air of independence which might create alarm in the minds of persons unacquainted with them; but I have always found them peaceable, orderly, and respectful. I should consider them to be a harmless race, unless aroused by the outrageous conduct of an adversary. The same account, indeed, is given of them by our geographical dictionaries. Brooke's Gazetteer, for instance, speaks of them as an hospitable and friendly people, unless prompted to a contrary conduct by the jealousies which the universal appearance of Europeans is apt to excite.

That some of the islanders have exercised fearful vengeance on our ship's crews from time to time in their own country, must be conceded; but it must also be admitted that they are exposed to cruel deceptions on the part of our shippers of sandal wood, who, after obtaining a cargo at their expense, frequently sail away without paying the stipulated price. This, I am assured, to be the fact by seamen who are acquainted with the islands.

So clearly indeed am I of opinion that the men of Tanna are an intelligent harmless race, that I took one of them into my house by the kind permission of Mr. Boyd. He absented himself, however, on the fourth day, under a notion that he might find a passage to his native land on board the Sarah, which was then on the eve of departure for the South Seas. He was a quiet, unassuming, intelligent fellow, possessing a sufficient knowledge of broken English to make himself understood on a variety of occasions. I questioned him as to the alleged cannibilism of his race, which he emphatically denied, showing by the contortions of his countenance that he considered human flesh to be a most disgusting meal. Whether his denial is to be relied upon, as concerns the whole of his race, or as being merely personal, I cannot divine; but I think we may assume that human flesh would never be eaten where beef and mutton could be obtained, consequently the cannibalism of a people need not prevent our receiving them as domestic servants. The New Zealanders at no very remote period devoured entire ship's crews, yet the horrid practice has entirely ceased in those parts, where they are in contact with European civilization; and it is scarcely necessary to add, that these men prove incomparable servants.

On another occasion, he contrasted the condition of his people in their own country, and in Sydney. In Tanna, the man has the happy privilege of sleeping all day and above all is happy in the enjoyment of his wife. The woman rises before the sun, and while the man is still in the arms of Morpheus, she gathers bananas and the various other fruits which natures pours forth with bounteous hand; but in Sydney said he, "man Tanna no wife, no nothing." He told me that he had left behind a wife and a picaninny; that his wife was then crying for him. I offered to send for his wife and child, to which he replied, she would not come, that at Tanna she had "plenty bananas, plenty yams, plenty breadfruit, plenty sugar cane, plenty cocoa-nut, and plenty pork—but in Sydney "no nothing."

Here then, we perceive sufficient grounds for dissatisfaction on the part of the islanders, independently of the pernicious counsels of the adversaries of their race among our own unprincipled servants. The loss of matrimonial comforts to a people who have no enjoyment but of a sensual kind, has always appeared to me one of the most certain modes of defeating the object of these importations. On the other hand, I can imagine situations in the interior which married couples of the savage races could fill with satisfaction to their employers, if moderately compensated and kindly treated. But in order to ensure success, they should be under the immediate care of the principals, and not confided to subordinates whose interest it is to make their position intolerable. Two of the women of the island of Lefoo, out of four whom I have seen, would prove unexceptionable as house servants, as far as manners and personal appearance are concerned. At present these are living under circumstances far from being favourable to the improvement of female charms; but I entertain no doubt that under proper moral training they might have found many adorers from among our own swains.

The men from the island of Lefoo seem to be a ferocious warlike race. I have seen among them several splendid boys, whose gladsome, lively movements filled me with admiration. I have witnessed nothing superior to them among our own people, and have no doubt they would become excellent servants if trained at an early age. One of the boys, who for sometime past, has been received by a lady of my acquaintance, gives the utmost satisfaction, and is learning to read with all the promise of a European subject. A few thousands of these children of both sexes annually placed under the care of just as many Christians in heart as would properly train them to habits of industry, would not only be a serviceable relief to the employers of labour, but prove of incalculable benefit to the cause of civilization in the Polynesian islands.

The cost of importation would not exceed three pounds for each, and it will be found on calculation that the pecuniary saving in wages and in diminished expenditure for the food of a given number of these children within twelve months, would amount to a sufficient sum for the annual importation of an equal number of European adults. The introduction of Polynesian labour might therefore be made an effectual means of promoting the emigration of our own races, to say nothing of the fact that the certainty of being able to obtain cheap and effective labour, might induce capitalists from England to settle among us.

The outcry that has been raised against these children of nature whom the Providence of God has placed among us, appears to me both unwarrantable and unchristian. With the utmost stretch of thought I can imagine no failing in the "Man of Tanna" which does not cleave to myriads among us, nor can I believe them to be as bad as ourselves. Are they averse to work, seeking happiness in sleep? Look at our own "can-but-be-happy" sots of all classes, who habitually create a fool's paradise by intoxicating drinks, with the certainty of premature death or a lunatic asylum. Nor is it true that the savage races refuse to work.

Let married couples be moderately compensated for pastoral or other services in the interior, and they will be found to give effective service.

Do they pilfer bread, and potatoes, and fish-hooks, which may happen to lie in tempting guise before them? Our illustrious thieves it must be admitted do nothing so ignoble as this; but they abstract thousands from the pockets of widows and orphans.

But little villains must submit to fate,
That great ones may enjoy the world in state.

Are they belligerent and ferocious in war? So were the heroes whom we hold up to the admiration of our rising generation. Hundreds of thousands of human lives were sacrificed to the ambition of an insatiate Alexander the Great.

Do they put to death their prisoners of war? So did the heroes of antiquity, in order to save the expense of feeding, and the inconvenience of guarding them. Two-thirds of the Moabites captured by King David were put to death in cold blood, (2 Sam. viii. 2); and when he took Rabbah, "he brought out the people that were in it, and cut them with saws, and with harrows of iron, and with axes. Even so did David with all the cities of the children of Ammon." (1 Chron. xx. 3.) Napoleon poisoned a considerable number of his own soldiers when sick of the plague in Egypt, on the ground of political expediency. One historian indeed is hardy enough to deny the fact, but I know it to be true, from the admission of the parties who were concerned in it.

Is it really true that "the men of Tanna" had a feast upon their enemies? Civilized nations in every age have done worse, for they have feasted on their friends, when other food was not to be procured. At the siege of Numantia, in Spain, its garrison of 4000 men, in the vain hope of resisting a besieging army of 60,000 (sixty thousand), under Scipio Africanus, daily drew lots for the men who were required to be slain for the food of their comrades. At length no doubt the survivors became disgusted with their horrid meal, for they set fire to the city and perished in the flames, not a soul remaining to grace the triumph of the conqueror.

This feat of the men of Numantia we place to the account of martial glory. The men of Tanna for the same deeds would doubtless have been stigmatised as incarnate devils.

Let us, however, assume for the sake of argument, that these islanders are as bad as these detractors would have them to be. Unfit associates for our virtuous shepherds and stockmen! Ought we not to rejoice that the Providence of God has thrown them among us, that we may convert them—that we may send back some one or more of them to their own country as heralds of the gospel of peace? I can remember the time when the fervour of the religious world was very properly aroused in behalf of the African cannibal. Missionary cards were put in circulation with the inscription—

"ARE WE NOT ALL BRETHREN?"

What has been the result?—From among these converted cannibals are men who for years past have been preaching to large and fashionable congregations in England. In 1840 I heard one of them named Fisher, in a Methodist chapel in Paris. I now learn from a Times newspaper that two of these "ministers of colour are preaching in Edinburgh. The Rev. Mr. Clark, minister of a congregation at Washington, composed chiefly of slaves, preached at Dr. Candlish's church. The Rev. Mr. Gloucester, from Philadelphia, preached at Mr. Biggs'." Both, adds the journal, have been preaching much in England for the Methodists and Independents, the latter especially for Mr. James, of Birmingham.

Can we forget also that from among the African slaves of the island of St. Domingo have been many mitred heads?—Bishops and Archbishops of the Romish Church. Away then with the silly notion that the mind of a savage differs in any respect from those of our own race, excepting so far as results from moral culture.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—As the aggressions of the blacks on the whites in this and other districts have frequently appeared in your journal, I have no doubt the letter which appears in your contemporary the Moreton Bay Courier, signed B. J. Bertelson, will also be published by you; if so, I beg to state that as far as I am named therein, charging me with giving spirits, and refusing rations, and also with respect to the kangaroo, is false, and I have made a declaration before a magistrate to that effect. I waited upon the gentleman whose name is appended to the letter, and he informed me that he had merely published that which he had heard. Injustice to me, should you publish this or any other report prejudicial to my character, I trust that an opportunity will be afforded to me to contradict the same.

I am, Gentlemen,
Yours, obediently,
GEORGE FURBER.

Ipswich, December 7.

WIDE BAY.

To the Editor of the Moreton Bay Courier.

SIR,—Presuming that a few lines relating to the recently settled country in the neighbourhood of Wide Bay will be interesting to your readers, more particularly as you appear not to have been furnished with correspondence from this part of the district, I have ventured to send you a truthful, if not an accurate, account of the doings of our northern pioneers in the march of civilisation and subjugation of the wilderness to the purposes of man. The many unfounded reports in circulation respecting the aggressions of the blacks, and the malicious rumour that all the white men left to protect Mr. Furber's station during his absence had been massacred, render it imperatively necessary that such statements should be confuted as publicly as possible, in order that the public mind may be disabused in this respect.

Since Mr. Furber's departure for Limestone, the natives have been very quiet, and have not molested anybody. With regard to the late outrage committed upon him, Mr. Furber's own men state the reason why the blacks attacked him was because he had failed to provide them with sufficient rations, according to promise, for stripping bark and doing other work for him; and that in serving out the flour to them it was spread over a large surface, to make it appear a greater quantity than there was in reality; at which the blacks were greatly dissatisfied, and which, no doubt, was the reason for their seeking revenge for what they conceived to be an injury. I have heard also that Mr. Furber imprudently supplied them with spirits, which excited them to such a degree as to induce them to believe it was his intention to poison them all. Now, if these statements made by Mr. Furber's own men are correct, it can hardly be wondered at that the blacks should have committed the outrage, particularly when the other wounded man who was working with his master had refused them a small portion of kangaroo, which he had killed only a short time before. From my own experience, nothing seems to annoy them more than for white men to promise and then to shirk performance. This is not the way to deal with the natives; and I would advise no one to attempt evasion after promising them anything for work that has been cheerfully done.

We are in hopes of soon hearing that Government has resolved upon establishing a township at the head of the navigation of the Mary, which is the designation, I observe, of our noble river. There are two places where a township might be formed—the one on the north, the other on the south side—both prettily situated, with abundance of water. The soil is of the richest description, and peculiarly adapted for agriculture; while the country around abounds with noble cedar trees of the rarest dimensions, which circumstance, when once publicly known, will induce merchants to send vessels for the sake of the lucrative business which might be established here. There is also abundance of other timber adapted for building purposes, and which can readily be procured on the banks of the river.

The runs on the neighbourhood of Wide Bay, or rather on the tributaries of the Burnett, are the best I have met with since crossing the country from Bathurst, with the exception of some of the stations of Darling Downs. The grass resembles that growing in Europe, being very thick, abounding with herbage, barley, and kangaroo grass, quite equal to the so-much lauded oaten-grass on the Downs. On my arrival, I was much pleased with the country; indeed, it exceeded my utmost expectations, for it resembles English park scenery, with rich undulating ridges, large flats, and abundance of water. In order to give you some idea of the pasturage, I may state, that I have seen one flock of 5000 sheep feeding in this part of the country, and even this number could not keep the grass down sufficiently. Of course, so large a flock is quite unusual, and was a case of necessity, as the shepherd who had charge of another flock, horrified at the reports of murders and cannibalism, had bolted; when the two flocks had to be run together. The country in the immediate neighbourhood of the Burnett is sandy, scrubby, and good for nothing; but that on the tributaries is very open, with rich soil, and excellent pasturage for sheep. There is still a good deal of country unoccupied in this part of the district; I expect, however, it will soon be taken up by the Brisbane gentlemen, whose runs cannot be compared with this country.

There can be no doubt, that Wide Bay is the nearest shipping port for a large extent of country on the Burnett, Dawson, Fitz Roy Downs, and Expedition Range, and that it will shortly become an important place of commerce. I believe that mine have been the first drays that have travelled from the Burnett tributaries to Wide Bay, and I understand that three or four more squatters have intimated their intention of doing the same, when the success of my first trip is ascertained. The new road on which my drays went from Boonera to Wide Bay, is about sixty miles; whereas from Boonera to Limestone is 170 miles, showing a saving of distance to Wide Bay, going and returning, of 220 miles. I understand there is an excellent harbour at Wide Bay, and that ships can load there direct for England. Having frequently been asked by parties, whether stores at Wide Bay would answer, I can confidently assure them, that they will find plenty of custom and employment, and that goods disposed of there will fetch remunerating prices, provided such stores are well conducted.

Besides a large export of wool, we shall doubtless have in the course of a short time a great quantity of tallow shipped from this port; and which will render the erection of a boiling down establishment a necessary means to promote the prosperity of the district. But I am afraid that I have already occupied too large a portion of your space; I shall, therefore, conclude with advising all persons who intend establishing themselves at Wide Bay, to visit the place, when they will soon ascertain whether what I have stated be truth or fiction. I firmly believe that many of the reports concerning the outrages of the blacks have been circulated by interested individuals, with the view of deterring persons from proceeding thither.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
B. J. BERTELSON.

Parramatta, New South Wales,
December 8, 1847.

DEAR AND BELOVED SIR,—

WE, the undersigned, are thankful to the Great Head of the Church for directing your feet amongst us, and we know by happy experience that the blessing of God has attended your labours here. We rejoice to see our Church increasing, both in number and happiness. We also see a feeling of love in our congregation exhibited towards you; we are quite satisfied with you, and pledge ourselves to do the utmost in our power towards your support; and we hope and trust the Christian public will assist us in this matter, so that you may carry the glad tidings of salvation from house to house, in Parramatta, in the same manner and with as much success as when you were agent to the London City Mission and Christian Instruction Societies for some years in London.

We, the members of the Church worshipping in the Congregational Chapel, Ross-street, Parramatta, had a Church meeting, on the 6th December, 1847:

It was moved, seconded, and unanimously carried—That Mr. James John Glassop, Baptist Minister, be invited to become the pastor of this Church.

We have no doubt but the same Providence which directed you amongst us will guide you in this step aright. We thank you for the interest you have taken in our little cause.

We pray God that your life may be long spared to see the work prosper through your instrumentality. May the choicest of God's blessings descend upon you.

We are your affectionate
Friends in the Lord.

December 13, 1847.

To the Church of Christ assembling in the Congregational Chapel, Ross-street, Parramatta.

My Dear Brethren,—

I have received another invitation from you inviting me to become your pastor; after labouring amongst you constantly for nearly twelve months, I think you must be well acquainted with my manner of preaching. It is very gratifying to me that the invitation is unanimous, which invitation I most willingly accept. From a multiplicity of circumstances, I feel assured that God has directed me to labour for the welfare of the souls of my fellow-creatures in Parramatta.

I cannot tell how I and my family will be supported, but I leave that with God: He can send us friends. Truly, New South Wales is as Mr Saunders represented it to be when he wrote home for me to come here: it is a place which requires Christian help, and I do not think I was ever in a place that required Christian exertion more than Parramatta. It appears that the Almighty has blessed my humble endeavours, for which I desire to be thankful.

I am,
My beloved Brethren and Sisters,
Your servant for Christ's sake,
9506 JAMES JOHN GLASSOP.

CENTRAL SITUATION FOR MERCANTILE OR GENERAL BUSINESS,
No. 423, GEORGE-STREET, SYDNEY.

TO LET, all those Premises, and Stores at the rear, at present occupied by Messrs. Bowen and Son; the proprietor would have no objection, for a permanent tenant, to make any alteration to the front of the House, as might be mutually agreed upon. The SITUATION—direct opposite Messrs. Porter and Peek, and being the centre of the City, needs no further comment.

Apply on the premises, or to
F. WILSON,
8857 Leitrim, Camperdown.

PUBLIC HOUSES.—To be let, two first rate Public Houses situate in the most central part of Sydney, both of which are at present doing an excellent business.

Also, a man Cook who thoroughly understands his business, wages, £30 per annum, and the passage paid. And also several male and female Servants of every description, both single and married, for town and country. A PUBLIC HOUSE IN PARRAMATTA.—To be let, with license, the house known as the Newlands Inn, situate on the main approach from Parramatta to Kissing Point. The house has recently been erected, and is in excellent repair, contains twelve rooms and extensive stabling.

Immediate possession can be given, and to a careful tenant the rent and coming in would be low. A good business has always been done, and the proprietor's sole reason for now leaving it, is his having taken the White Horse Cellar, at the corner of George and Church streets.

Early application is necessary, and for particulars apply to

R. F. TEASDELL,
Church and George streets,
9394 Parramatta.

HOUSE AND FARM TO LET.—To be let, in the county of Cumberland, and the district of Camden (one of the best neighbourhoods in the colony), a very desirable Farm of 700 acres, well watered by the Nepean River and a Creek, having on it a most commodious Family Residence, with all suitable offices and out-buildings, yards, &c.; an excellent Garden and Orchard, and a Vineyard, of nearly three acres, in full bearing. There is a Church within a mile and a half. The Farm consists of 700 acres, divided into suitable paddocks; one half of this area is cleared, a portion has been prepared for lucerne, and a part of this has been sown. The Farm can be let for one or more years; any person wishing the House and Garden only, could find a respectable tenant for the whole, or any portion of the land. Apply, if by letter post-paid, to Mr. IRVINE, Mattaval, near Camden. 8865

NEW STORES TO LET, AT YASS.—To capitalists wishing to embark in storekeeping, this is a favourable opportunity, the premises being situated in the very centre of that fast rising business little town, where there are but two permanent stores established. This would be a good opportunity for houses in Sydney or Goulburn to establish a branch store, as the profits of storekeeping in those inland towns must be apparent to any person connected with the trade. The premises are complete with every requisite for a large establishment, measuring fifty feet frontage, comprising shop, parlour, bedroom, and cellar; in the yard, which is enclosed with a ten feet brick wall, contains a kitchen, granary, forty feet long; and dry store. Possession will be given on the 10th January next. Rent, £80 per annum. Application to be made to Mr. CHARLES QUAY, Globe Hotel, Yass, if by letter, post paid.

PEMBROKE PARK.

TO THE INDUSTRIOUS FARMER. IMPORTANT SALE

OF RICH ALLUVIAL LAND, WITH EXTENSIVE RIVER FRONTAGE, IN A DENSELY POPULATED DISTRICT.

MR. GEORGE A. LLOYD

HAS much pleasure in informing the inhabitants of the Hunter, Paterson, and William Rivers, that he has received instructions from

CAPTAIN JOHN LEWIS,
(Formerly of Morpeth, but now of Haverfordwest, Pembrokeshire, Wales,) to submit to public competition, on the Ground,

ON MONDAY, 10TH JANUARY,
At 12 o'clock precisely,

The whole of that magnificent property so well known as the

PEMBROKE PARK ESTATE,

bounded on the south by land belonging to John Eales, Esq., on the west by the estate of J. Macdonald, Esq. ; on the east by the late Mr. Malcolm's property ; and on the north by the and presenting an opportunity that rarely occurs for a man to become the architect of his own fortune.

Arrangements have been made to divide the estate in such a manner that persons of the humblest means may safely purchase ; and the terms offered are such that the land will absolutely produce the amount necessary to pay for it before it is required.

LOT 1,

contains 25 acres, bounded on the north by the River Paterson, immediately opposite the estate of Dr. Scott, and on the east by a road leading to Morpeth, on the west by Mr. Macdonald, and on the south by comprising 21½ acres, on which is erected that very commodious and substantial cottage, known as "Moore Park House," at present inhabited by the Rev. G. A. Myddleton. This plot of ground is yielding periodical crops of lucerne, which have proved exceedingly profitable. The house was built at a great expense, and is fit for the reception of a respectable family.

LOT 2,

LOT 3

consists of twenty acres, adjoining the above.

LOT 4

is bounded by a reserved road sixty-six feet wide, which divides it from the land of John Eales, Esq. It also adjoins Lot 3, and contains eighteen acres.

LOT 5

comprises twenty-one and a half acres, with a frontage to the road leading to Morpeth.

LOT 6

adjoins the above, with a frontage to the same road, and is composed of 26 acres is bounded on one side by a continuation of the same road, and on another side by the river Paterson, opposite the property of Captain Livingstone ; it contains 33 acres, on which is erected the cottage now inhabited by Mr. Thornton, and known as Pembroke cottage : it is also well provided with out-houses, stores, &c.

LOT 7

LOT 8

also runs down the river, adjoining the above, and consists of 35½ acres.

LOT 9

comprises 27½ acres, with a frontage to the River, opposite the estate of "Hinton," the property of the late R. C. Dillin, Esq.

The Auctioneer feels it quite unnecessary to expatiate on the advantages this sale offers—they must be self-evident. Rich land—never-failing crops—water carriage—nothing required but industry to make the land purchase itself.

TERMS :—

Twenty per cent. cash deposit ; the remainder by bills at six, twelve, eighteen, and twenty-four months, with interest at the rate of 8 per cent.

A luncheon will be provided. 9218

FOR POSITIVE SALE TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER.

VALUABLE ESTATE ON THE PATERSON.

TO BE SOLD,

Under a Power of Sale contained in a Mortgage Deed.

MR. MORT

Has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street,

THIS DAY, 15TH DECEMBER,
At 12 o'clock,

"ALL that Piece or Parcel of Land, "containing by admeasurement six "hundred and forty acres, be the same more "or less, situate, lying, and being, in the "County of Durham and Parish of Houghton, "in the Territory of New South Wales, commencing on Paterson's River, opposite the "line which divides the grants of George and "James Adair, and bounded on the east "by a south line of fourteen chains ; on the "south by a west line of eighteen chains ; on "the west by a north line of one hundred and "thirteen chains ; on the north by an east line "of twenty-eight chains and seventy links to "Paterson's River, and on the north-east by "Paterson's River."

The property is the well known fine Estate called

LENNEXTON,

and consists of a large portion of the best alluvial land, now let to a respectable and substantial tenantry, and producing a

VERY HANDSOME RENTAL.

THE HOMESTEAD has upon it a superior Brick and Shingled House, with a spacious verandah. The house contains ten rooms, and is in every respect suitable for the residence of a family. Attached are Still House, Wine House, Six-stalled Stable, Stores, and other Out-houses.

THE VINEYARD is FOUR ACRES in extent—it is celebrated for its choice vines, which are in full bearing, and the produce of which, last season, yielded no less than 3000 GALLONS OF WINE.

THE ORCHARD covers an additional four acres, and contains the finest and most prolific fruit-trees, in great variety.

THE FARMS have substantial buildings erected thereon, and the aggregate present rental is £160

The homestead would readily let for at least........ 100

Thus forming a certain income of £260 PER ANNUM, with the prospect of a greatly increased return.

THE WHOLE OF THE PROPERTY IS FENCED IN,

And subdivided into suitable grazing and cultivation paddocks. It is only six miles distant from the township of Paterson, and is upon the same side of the river. There is an excellent road to the township, and produce can be shipped direct from Lennexton to Sydney during the floods, which is a point of great importance.

Mr. Mort calls the attention of the public to this splendid Estate, which offers a combination of advantages seldom met with.

To the capitalist it presents a handsome return upon the best of all security ; whilst to a party of more limited means it will give an excellent residence, replete with every convenience, and surrounded by every luxury, and a good rent-roll, which may be indefinitely augmented by his own pursuits at the homestead. Indeed Mr. Mort has the authority of a Surveyor of great repute in the district to state that this is one of the

FINEST PROPERTIES ON THE PATERSON.

The quit-rent is redeemed.

The title is a purchase from the grantee.

For further particulars apply to Messrs. Carr, Rogers, and Owen, Solicitors; or to the Auctioneer.
